FITZSIMMONS COMMENCES LIGHT TRAINING.

His Hand is All Right and He Hope to Try Its Strength on Corbelt's Jaw.

einmone will begin light training today for hie battle with J. J. Corbett: ording to the articles of agreement with Dan Stuart, who is promoting the fight, neither Fitzsimmons nor Corbatt will be notified of the location of the battle ground until February 17th, conpor Corbatt will be notified of the tocation of the battle ground until February 17th, consequently neither of them is in a position to select training quarters or begin heavy work. Fitzeimmone has mapped for himself a system of exercises that he will tolow daily during his short stay liners. He will take daily a twelve-mile trun from the Barthold hotel, where he is stopping, to Macomb'e dam and return, skirting Central park. He will use the dumbbells for a few minutes then, skirting Central park. He will use the dumbbells for a few minutes cach day and will exercise with the writt machine. In an interview last might Fitzsimmone said.

"It think it is not necessary for me to take any gymnasium work as I have no fless to take off and simply desire to make my wind good and keep my muscles supple. The runs and light exercise will do this for me. I won't box or punch the bag for at least two weeks, sai want to give my sore knuckle a good reat before using it. It is all right now, the swelling has gone down and the soreness has loft entirely and I move not the slightest fear for it. The Chinese Vendetta. SAN FIRANCISCO, January 27.—Ohina-town is quiet, but a resumption of the vendetta between the Sam Yup and See vendetta between the Sam Yup and See Yup companies is superted soon. Chinalaw district is being guarded by a large form of potice and empacted highbinders are closely watched. "Big Jim" the leading See Yup man, will probably be the next victim. The Sam Yupa have offered a reward for his head, not because he has been particularly offeestive, but because ha is oth and indisential and his taking off partially compensate for the lose of "Little Pete." Bedygnards are in demand by proninent Chinese of both companies, who do not appear on the streets unless closely guarded.

Mystery Surrounding the Death of an Oakland Capitalist.

San Francisco, January 27.—0. C. Nordbaueen, an Oakland capitalist, who had been treated at St. Luke's hospital REICHMAN EXAMINED AT LENGTH

Juror With Imperfect Hearing. The Draft Book Found in Sanders' Office.

Nothing new transpired resterday brought out at the two former trials.

John Reichman, the expert on handwriting, was on the stand during the greater part of the day, and was cross-namined at length by the detence. Robert Anderson will be called this nony, while they were cell-mates in the county jail. It is understood that he two witnesses Anderson was to procure statements which sanders wrose for the wo witnesses Anderson was to procure will probably be introduced in evidence, and the contents made public. The prosecution expects to introduced all its testimony by tomorrow evening. The probability is that the case will be given to the jury in the latter part of the coming week, or early in the next. There is room for serious doubt whether use of the jurors is hearing all the testimony introduced. His name is J. M. Rose and he is an elderly man-lis hearing is imperfect, so much so that he can understand only when distinctly spoken to. When Mr. Rose was examined as a slaceman the action may have been as a latter when the serious have been an anner, and he etaced that whenever he elouid be unable to hear the testimony he would sell the winesses to speak loader.

While one witness was on the stand early in the trial Bistrict Ationey Snow asked the juror if he could hear what was being said. 'Most of it,' was Mr. Rose's reply, and he was informed that he ought to understand everything.

that he ought to undertaind everything.

Althrugh Mr. Ross occupies a chair near the witness stand, it is doubtful if he hears all the testimony. The witmesses constitues give their answers almost in an undertous, making it difficult for a person even with normal hearing to understand them.

This is a very important matter. The attorneys and the court, being deeply compied with the proceedings, forget that the juror is partially deal, and do not always require the witness to speak out. Mr. Ross probably thinks that he catches the answers, but it may be presumed at least that this is a very unreliable manner of presenting testimony to a jury-

liable manner of presenting testimony to a jary.

The direct examination of John Reichman was resumed yesterday morning when court couraged. The witness made practically the same explanation of the characteristics of Wootton's gain into explanation of the characteristics of Wootton's gain in the signature as Mr. Gumpel did the day before, and pointed out the differences in the signature to the draft. All Reichman further showed that the figure 4 in the 1400 of the draft was not made in Wootton's annal style. Invariably in all the checks with genuine signatures which the wilness had examined the figure was made without taking the pen of the paper. Instead of making a distinct cross through the horizontal line of the figure Wootton would merely continue a downward strokefrom the out of the horizontal. In the draft a plain cross, with the perpendicular extending above the horizontal line, was made.

As Expert Gumpel had testified the day before, Mr. Reichman also considered the intervals between the pairs of letters in the name Wootton, which were alseen in the draft, the principal point characterizing the missing rancher's algunture.

Upon cross-semination Mr. Reichman submitted that in the enlarged photograph of the signature to the draft there appeared to be a disconnection between the two t's and the second of in Woctton, after the manner of the gentine writing of Sanders. The witness explained, however, that this was canned by the stamp placed on the draft by the the Kutner-Goldstelm Company, which extends partly over the signature.

Mr. Reichman had testified upon the direct examination that Wootton did not follow lines very closely in writing, and pointed out that in the draft that in the draft the line without the witness one of the signatures, alleged to have been dorged, in which the line was not closely followed.

At the nomination of the expert's testimony, Deputy Sheriff Peck was placed upon the stand He had taken a leading part in conducting the investigations which held to Professor Sanders' arrest. The main point of his testimony was the finding of a draft book by himself and Detective A. E. Lawson in the defendant's office at his ranch. The hook contained blanks prockedy like that on which the draft which Sanders is alleged to have longed was written. The officer found that one blank had been torn out, together with the stath. Next to the binding the torn edges could be seen, however, Such books always contain fifty blanks, and the witness found upon carfoul counting that there were only forty-nine blanks in that found in Sanders' folice. This is one of the most important points for the pre-eccition.

Sheriff Scott testified that he had also counted the blanks in the draft book.

Sheriif Scott testified that he had also counted the blanks in the draft book, and found only forty-nine.

T. A. Bell and Major O. Chisholm, who were members of the grand jury which indicted Sanders, also conneed only forty-nine blanks in the draft book, and testified to the fact. They had also seen the torn edges where the littleth draft had been torn out.

had been born out.

Deputy Courty Clerk E. E. Buth and ex-District Attorney Firmun Church testlifted regarding the possession of the book, whose hands it had been in, etc. Court Reporter John W. Gearhart was sworn to read some testimony of the defendant when he went on the stand at the last trial, but the defendent proceeded against its admittance. Court then adjourned until 9.15 o'clock this morning, when the attorneys will submit authorities up the question.

In the forty Methodist missions of South Africa Royal Baking Powder is used exclusively. Rev. Ross Taylor, agent for these missions, says that after a trial of others the Royal is found to be the only baking powder that will maintain its strength and efficiency, that can be relied upon to make perfect food, or that can be economically used in that climate.

This fact is most significant. It shows that the Royal is the only perfectly made powder. If the other powders were as pure, as strong, and as scientifically made as the Royal, they would . do equal service everywhere.

There is the same difference between the Royal and the other simply made conspicuous by the climatic conditions and the methods of use prevailing in that country.

The inferiority of the other powders results siding was not so serious as at first reference from low-grade, impure ingredients improperly combined, which cause unwholesome and inferior food.

The Royal Powder only will give uniform results in perfect foods, and prove of the greatest economy in the saving of flour, butter, and other articles used in their production.

A GRAND JURY OF KERN.

The usefulness of the grand jury he years become the subject of t discussion in this state, and earment (necession in while the contension of opinion apparently is that grand juries are rule accomplish more good then harm it must be admitted that if there must be admitted that if there were many juries of the kind that held swey in Kern county during a period that accomed well nigh interminable in 1895, the opponents of the grand jury system would have much the heart of the compact. have much the best of the argument.

have much the peet of the argument. The courts of that county have re-cently concluded the trial of two county officials who were indicted by that grand-jury on numerous charges, for crimes ranging from perjury to emberatement of the thick founds. In order to Secure s of public funds. In order to secure of public funds. In order to secure a trial before an unbiased judge, Judge Conley of Madera county was called to try the cases. These trials established the fact that the proceedings of the grand jury upon which they were based were not only a farce, but amounted to an infamous conspiracy to destroy the reputation of the men who were branded as criminals. The records showed that funds which they were charged with funds which they were charged with having emberzied had been paid into the tressury, and that in instances the treasury, and that in where perjury was charged no natha had been administered or affidavits made. So filmsy were the grounds mane. So many work the product upon which the charges were made that in some of the cases the jury rendered verdicts of acquittal without leaving verdicts of acquittal without leaving their seats and in others the judge instructed the jury to acquit. THE Populist reason as it exists in Kansas for turning down Senstor Peffer kansas for turning down isolater in the is not easily understood. Peffer is certainly a thoroughgoing Populist, and as such his record in the senate appears to have been above reproach. In all p ability the question of spuils and fac-tional jeakonsies, such as are supposed to exist exclusively in the old parties, has had a good deal to do with the Kaneas statesman's undoing. Peffer is not the first reformer who has gone down before the political hatchetmen.

Now THAT Kings county is showing disposition to appropriate a considerable part of the earth that belong to Freeno county, the people of this county are justified in taking the position that its boundary lines shall renain intact. Let this county build me roads and bridges in the south western portion of the county at the sartiest possible time, and defend every sore of its territory against the encroachment of predatory neighbors.

Assemblyman Cartwright of this county has introduced a bill to prohibit the 'gold clause' in contracts. It should pass, whether it does or not. Any money which is good enough for Uncle Sam should be good enough for uncle Sam should be good enough for any of his nephews or nieces. Gold clauses, deliberately or otherwise, add their share to the tendancy to make gold the king of all moneys, and the nation wants no such king while a coterle of Wall street bankers can corner and handle it. Any money that is good enough to pay a day laborer is good enough for all purposes. The bill should page.

Assemblyman Levitt has introduced a bill to make examinations for admission to the bar more stringent than they now ere. This thing of dising cannibale, alungers and self-round bulles doing besiness through out the sixte, all under a legal guarantee that they are persons of "good moral character," is more than sheard, for it is launifable. Resolutions of Respect.

Windless, Death has again entered or neededy and taken from us one of our number in the spring-time of life and usefulness; be it resolved:

I. That is the death of Evalyn Gordon Anderson, we, the Y.P.S.O.E. of the Christian Church, have substained a less that cannot be estimated, both because of her pure unselfish life and the influence for good which she wielded.

II. That the life she lived was so full of unselfish deeds of kindness and thoughtfulness for others that is should prove a source of inspiration to all who same under its influence.

III. That, as one by one, our members go before us into His presence, but another link is added to the chain that binds us to that better land; for we know For a pain in the cheat a piece of farmel dampened with Ohamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on over the seat of the pain, and another on the back between the shoulders, will affard prompt relief. A certain people dwelt upon a far is land, and the chores of the island were land, and the shores of the island were washed by an infinite sea. And the people grow and prospered, for their soil was fertile and it yielded abundantly to their tillage, and theirs was a summer climate and no enow fell upon them.

And when they had drunken of it And when they had drunken of it they said, "Lo, it is the drink of the gode; it is nectar." For to him who had partaken of it came bright drums, and he deemed that the earth was als, the earth with an elegant red, white and blue fring on it; and he would elap himself on the thigh, and would elap himself on the thigh, and would say, "I'll bet you "steen million dollars—charge this round to me, barkeep'," For this drink of the gods was the liar of liare."

charge this round to me, barkeep." For this dripk of the gods was the liar of liars.

And soon they who drank of the nectar dranned no more, for Folly danced attendance upon them and Madness seized them in her greap. And for the "drink of the gods" did some of them barter their homes and their friends and their manhood and their life's possibilities. And the liquid sparkled as with orphans' tests, and their life's possibilities, and the liquid sparkled as with the heartblood of humanity. And some who drank of it became homeless wanderers upon the face of the lishad, and others who drank went down into the infinite sea, and still others—good fellows were some of them, but he madness was upon them—thook the nurderer's knife within their hands and blood.

And one there was—"a very good fol-

And one there was—"a very good fellow when sober," his friend says—who drank, and he became as lees than a little child in malevolence, and he knew mould have entered the home was, but would have entered the home of ancher, and he was shot unto death, going, a madman, into the unswend that he would number them night number the sands of the seasowers.

We are not responsible.

And all of this verily took place on that island whose shares are lapped by the waters of the infinite sas. And, standing at this distance, we who are wiser than they; we whose hearts through these centures have been astuned to the melody of that soun of peace which rang out of Batthehem of Judea—we can but wonder at the etrangs folly of these islanders, the wille we thank our God that seed folly is not oure. Or if we do not wonder at them, may we not marved that we do not? As men islager from iffe mitodetth, shall we not marvel? An enauhood is exchanged for degradation, only that mad dreams may come, shall we not again marvel? And as our boye totter down the same old path that leads to destruction, shall we not marvel again, not at the boys but at—ourselver? Alt, well! Let it peas, It is in vain to write against the dead wall of public opinion. No wall is colder or more impassable. But, as I think of that island people who wore prospersons and lappy, upon my word I do marvel greatly.

Here is a case where if a man sak for bread it is well to give him a stees—to break. But as for giving "rays" is long loaf in jail, that is "just" for them. in the deed of manufacturing syldence in his own favor, it merely is another illustration of the old saying that the davil always sells out his votaries in the ead. If this be true, too, it will leave little doubt in the minds of most people that enspiolon has pointed no erring finger at the murderer of William Wouton, Innocence does not manufacture evidence ento itself. If this evidence be verified, too—and I do not wish to be understood as in any way prejudging it—Banders must be looked upon as a moral pervert. He is a moral ocusiderable education and of fair montal shifty, and yet—always if the eridance be true—there is no depth of crime to which he will not stoop. Prior to the bassball game between the Mercad team and the Refundacans of this city, the Mercad Sun man unsheathed his Faber and wrote in highting, devestating humor of the defeat that awaited the Refundacans. Where is he "at!" now? Say, where does he get off? What's the natter with the defeat, that it blossomed on the wrong side of the fence? And what's the use of wasting humor that might have been given to the poor? I do not wish to reb it in on my Mercad rilend. Naturally he is a very line man; the only trouble with him is that his humor is liable to go off at the wrong end and muse up his laughter. He has to carry a handkerchief with him all of the time, so that when he laughe he shall be ready to wipe away possible tears. He is a nice man, is Raddiffic of the Sun, and I like him, but he ought to learn not to laugh when he is on his way to a funeral. Prior to the baseball game between

A BOX OF DYNAMITE UNDER HIS DOORSTEP.

Plot.

'A few days ago M. F. Husted of 239 A bip street found a box under the steps in the rear of his house. On lifting the lid a cold obill played hide and sock among Mr. Husted's vertebrae, for he saw before him a quantity of dynamite and a piece of fuse as long as an ana-conds. There was also a tox of caps. Mr. Husted liest thought that the anarchists, Fonians, nihilists or socialamericate, routain, indirect of designs upon his life, but upon making lavaeris gallons he concluded he was mistaken. The fines showed no sign of having been ignited and the areangement of the dynamide was not such as to indicate that an explosion had been contemplated.

dynamie was not such as to indicate that an explosion had been contemplated.

Nowithstanding the satisfactory conclusion Mr. Husted sarrived at he felt rather emeasy, for he could not second for the presence of the staff under his doorstep. He seeded to keep it a few days to see if any fit in a place where, if it he exploive and put it is a place where, if it he exploive and put that a place where, if it he exploive and put that he a collan to go off, it would do the seat hurm.

The few days were by but no one came to claim to death the the explosive should take a notion to go off, it would do the came to me and the contemplate of the contemplate of the contemplate of the few days and the contemplate of the few days and the staff and brought it to his effice, where it is within easy reach of the sparks from Justice St. John's pige.

Mr. Oritcher thinks the dynamic has been under Hustod's doorsien for averal months. The appearance of the box indicated that. The lid was very dusty and the bottom, which reated on the ground, was mouldy. He could not second for its presence where it was found, but is making lavastigations. The probability it that some one stole tha box, not knowing that it contained. When the thief found out what he at affine he was lagging around he made all hasto to get rid of it and hit it under the nearest dourstop, which imposed to be Ilusted's. However, the officer's inquiries may read it in contained.
